History

Aims

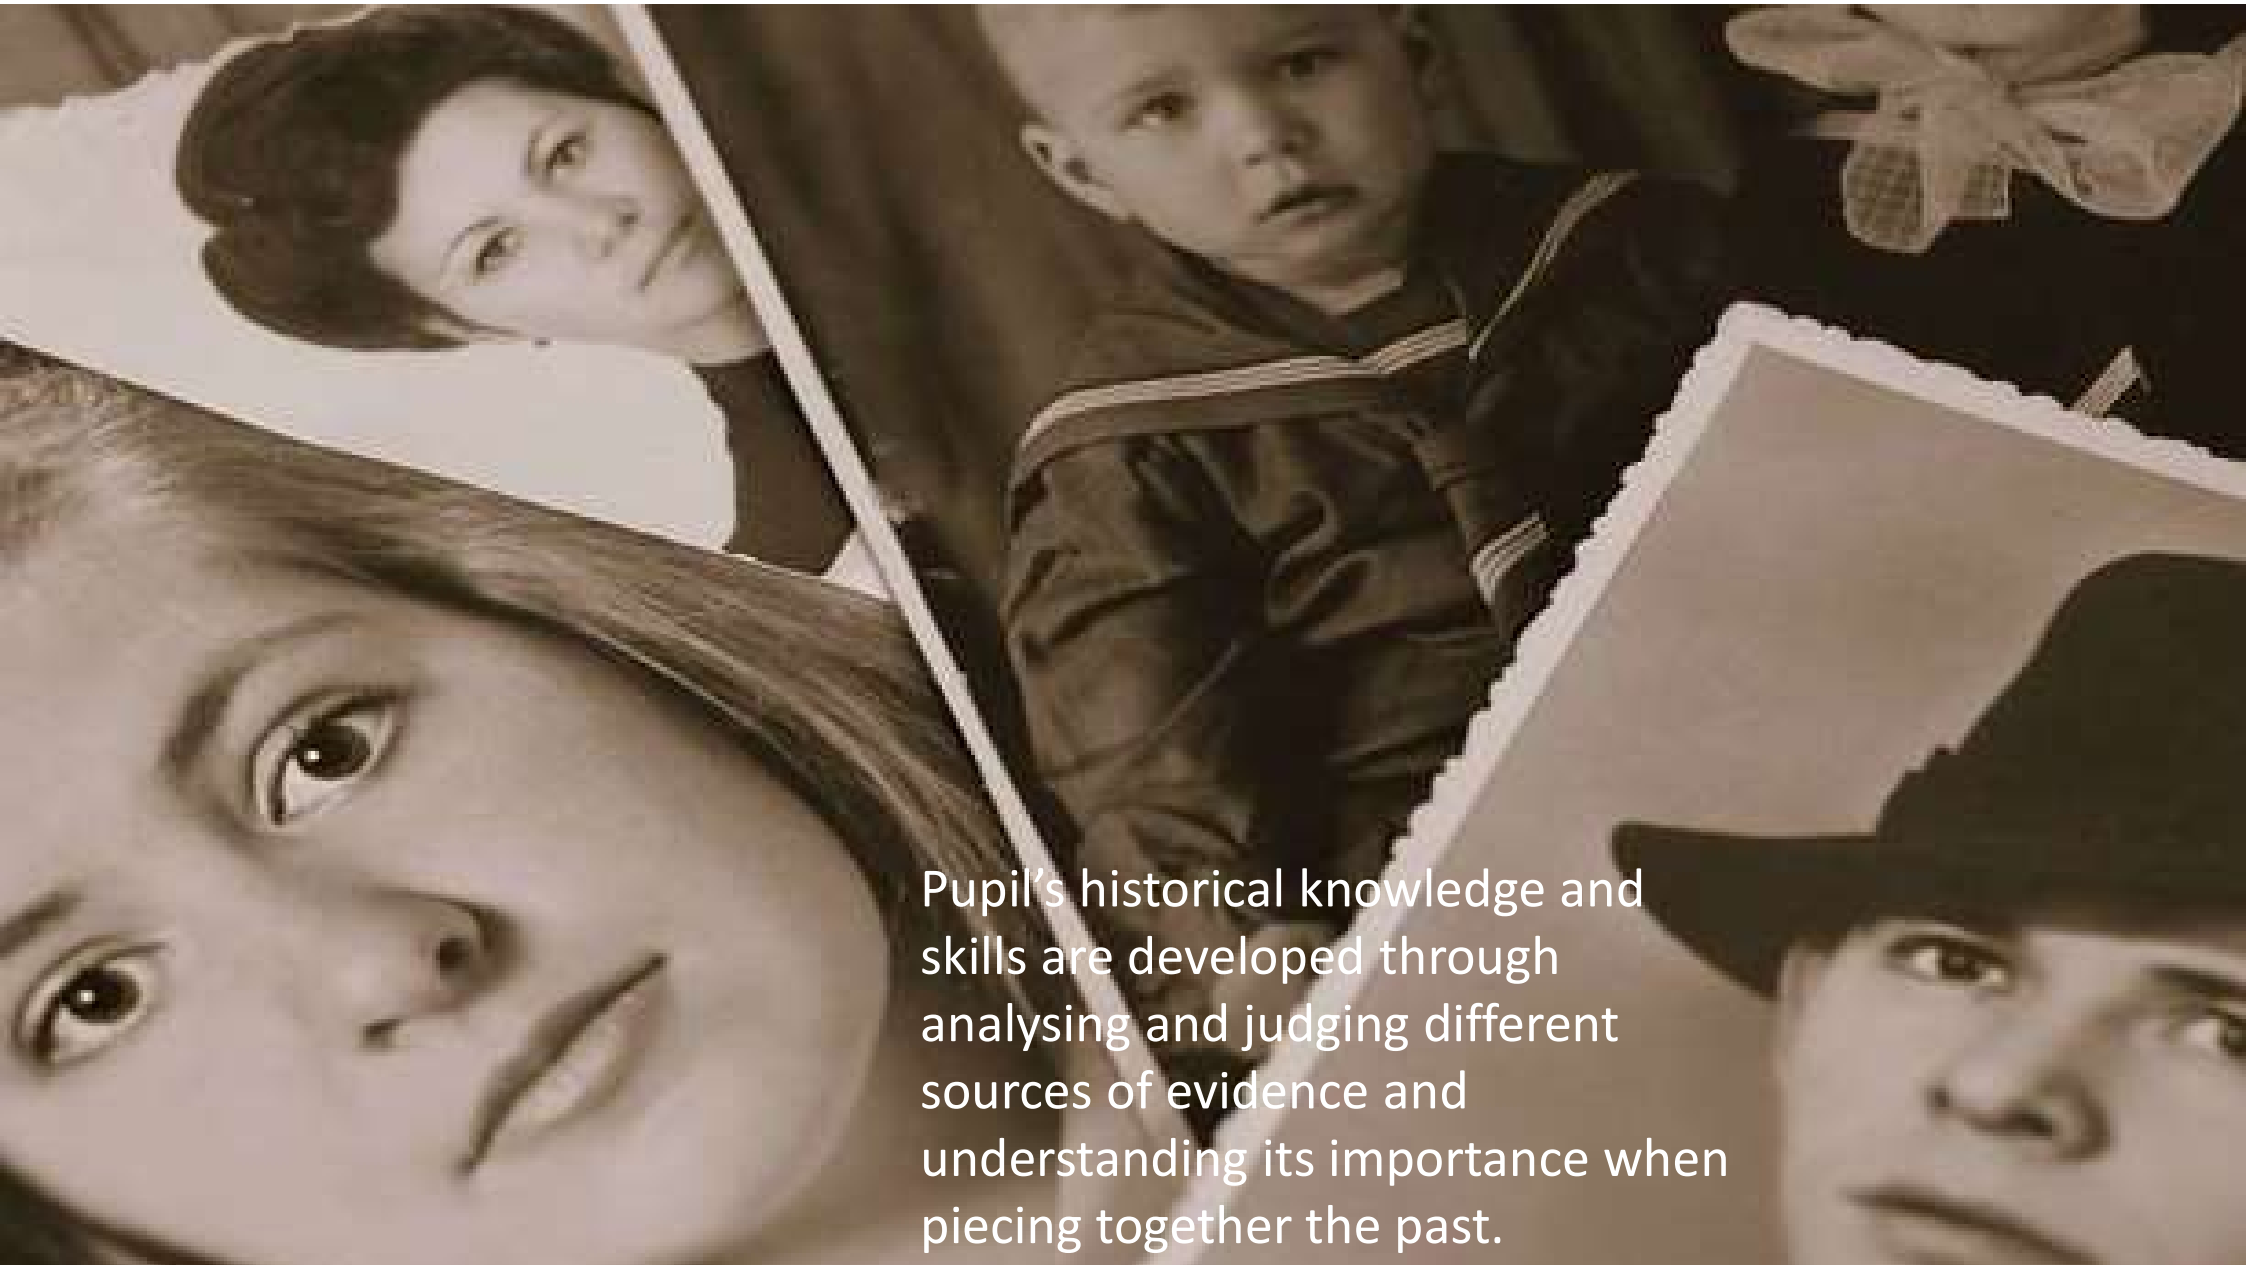

History inspires pupils' curiosity, leading them to ask relevant questions and think critically when searching for answers.

History helps pupils gain a coherent knowledge and understanding of their country's past and that of the wider world.

The history that children learn is brought alive for them through investigating and asking questions about the past, present and future.

Pupil's historical knowledge and skills are developed through analysing and judging different sources of evidence and understanding its importance when piecing together the past.

History introduces pupils to diversity within societies and the relationships between different groups over time.
